Boy Tells of 53 Hours Of Pain and Bitter Cold

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont. (CP)—Douglas McCoy, 13, one of five persons who became lost in the freezing Muskoka district last night, told a story of 53 hours of nightmare, pain and bitter cold from his hospital bed here.

"I don't know how we got lost. We just went over a couple of ridges, then tried to turn back. But we couldn't find our way."

"When it got dark we decided to make camp. We built a shelter with pine wood and lit a fire but we couldn't keep the fire going and it got too cold."

"So we started walking and walked until daylight."

"The next day (Sunday) we kept walking until Bob Peterson fell into the water through the ice while we were crossing a creek. His feet were frozen and his hands were frozen and he couldn't keep on his feet."

SKIN PEELED OFF

"We tried to take his gloves off, but it started to peel the skin off his hands. He just lay there in the snow, rolling his head from side to side."

"Then Andy (Morton) decided to try to get help by himself. He and Jim Duffy went off and left George and myself to look after Bob."

"We piled some branches to them and tried to put other branches on top of him. But he didn't get any better. About three in the afternoon I looked at him and he seemed to be dead."

"I felt his pulse and couldn't feel anything. We waited for a while for Andy to come back. Then we decided to leave Bob and go look for him."

BURIED BODY IN SNOW

"We had seen lots of wolf tracks around so we buried Bob in the snow so they couldn't get at him. A short time after we left there, we found Jim Duffy wandering around holding two rifles. He told us Andy had left him, but he must have been delirious."

"I don't remember meeting

Andy, but all of a sudden he was with us and Jim Duffy wasn't. We just walked and walked and walked. I don't remember too much about Monday. We seemed to be sitting down by the side of the lake for a long time. When we heard the plane I ran out on the ice and waved."

Douglas, George Farmer, 14, and Morton, 23-year-old leader of the Toronto church group, were rescued. Peterson, 13, and Duffy, 14, were found dead today.

Gov't Axe to Fall On 719 Employees

VICTORIA (CP)—The government is going to cut more than 719 workers from all departments in the coming fiscal year, Opposition leader Robert Strachan said in opening the budget debate in the legislature Monday.

Mr. Strachan said many of the workers will be taken from places where the government should be increasing staff rather than cutting it.

He cited public institutions such as Woodlands school for retarded children and the Hancor correctional institution as places where service should be increased.

In a speech lasting more than 2½ hours, Mr. Strachan said the government is "worse than the coalition governments ever was."

"The government has put in unnecessary payment of debt retirement ahead of human values," he said.

Under the present government, he said, municipal debt has risen and he said, municipal debt has risen

Chen Yi has been a rising star in the Peiping hierarchy since 1955.

Carload of Pupils Plunges into River

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—A carload of high school pupils turned into a dark dead end street Monday night and some were drowned. Five teenagers drowned. Two others made it to safety.

One of the survivors was Kim Sharp, the driver, 16-year-old son of a Pocatello physician. He said he did not know the quarter-block street ended at the river.

Sharp crawled through a window and another youth, Lynn Evenson, 16, was pulled from the car by a passing motorist.

The youngsters had been to a church youth meeting. Sharp said he turned down the street to turn around but the car hit a bump and its lights went out.

SEWAGE LAGOON PROPOSAL

Council Will Wield Political 'Big Stick'

Penticton city council is to wield the "political big stick" in a last-ditch effort towards acquiring Indian Reserve land for sewage lagoon purposes.

If there is no progress by April 1, council agreed last night after some sharp cleavage of opinion, plans for the lagoon will be abandoned and other means found for supplying the city's growingly acute need for more sewage disposal facilities.

Ald. Elsie MacCleave and Ald. P. E. Pauls advocated abandoning the sewage lagoon idea as an issue for which the city cannot afford to wait if its construction industry is not soon to grind to a halt. Although the sewage lagoon proposal was undoubtedly the most economical, it has been delayed for three years now with no sign of progress, these aldermen pointed out. Ald. A. C. Kendrick and Ald. P. F. McPherson were inclined to agree.

"It's about time that Ottawa put some pressure on its local representatives," he declared. "We have got to tell Mr. Fulton (minister of justice) that we've had nothing but frustration from his agents."

Ald. Eraut maintained that with the March 31 federal election coming on, the time was right to put pressure on the government for a definite "yes" or "no."

"No government will stand by and let 12,000 people vote against it," the alderman added.

Asked by Ald. Pauls whether he would agree the sewage lagoon plan was hopeless if there were no action forthcoming by April 1, Ald. Eraut said he would concede that if there were no action by that time, there would be much less hope for it after April 1.

It was felt that once approval for acquiring the land had been obtained, objections from the West Bench to the location of the proposed lagoon along with difficulties from the B.C. highways department, could be more easily coped with.

On the West Bench protests, Ald. Pauls reminded council that the health department originally gave approval to the lagoon idea only on the condition that it would be abandoned should it be found to be offensive to any area after being constructed.

A "whole series of problems" exists between Canada and the United States, he said in listing some Canadian complaints against the U.S., and there is "no absolutely satisfactory" solution to all of them.

But, he told questioners at his weekly press conference, "we have very good relations indeed" with the present Canadian government and with its ministers.

His comment came in response to a reporter's request for his observations as to why Canada-U.S. relations have deteriorated and what can be done to improve them.

CITIES DISPOSAL PROGRAM

It followed also a state department denial Monday of an editorial in the Milwaukee Journal which quoted Dulles as telling congressional committee in a closed session that the deterioration was due to the "inexperience of the present Canadian government in handling diplomatic relations."

Dulles conceded that some difficulties have developed and cited the U.S. agricultural disposal program policies which, he said, Canadians tend to feel deny them export markets to which they could sell on a cash basis.

He said there also is the recent limitation placed by the U.S. government on the importation of foreign oil into the U.S.

Canada at Fault, 'Inexperienced'

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary Dulles said today he believes U.S. relations with Canada are being maintained on a satisfactory basis despite difficulties which he conceded have developed between the two countries.

SECRETARY DULLES

In addition, he said, the present Canadian government has expressed the wish to purchase more from the United Kingdom and divert trade away from the United States. Heavy U.S. investment in Canada was another problem.

UN Observers At Border Advocated

LONDON (Reuters)—British officials today privately expressed themselves in favor of a reported plan to station a team of United Nations observers along the Tunisian-Algerian border.

Reports from Washington said the United States is considering such a proposal.

Officials here said the proposal would help relax frontier tension and prevent further incidents such as the French bombing Saturday of a Tunisian village. It also would help allay French suspicions that Algerian nationalists are being helped from inside Tunisia.

If the proposal is put forward, it is expected here that UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and the French and Tunisian governments would be consulted.

In the meantime, Premier F. Gaillard agreed to immediate National Assembly debate today on the French bombing of a Tunisian frontier village.

The Saturday bombing set off a diplomatic crisis for France which threatened relations with Tunisia and sparked world-wide criticism of French policy.

Tunisia said 68 persons were killed, 10 were missing and 84 wounded in the raid.

Tension mounted in Tunisia, where French troops have been confined to their bases by order of President Habib Bourguiba. The Tunisian president was reported determined that French troops must be evacuated from his country as a result of the bombing.

Manitoba Gov't Enters Hospital Insurance Plan

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba government today formally announced its intention of entering the proposed national hospital insurance plan and of making hospital care available to all Manitoba residents on a premium basis. The government added it does not intend imposing a sales tax to meet the costs of the hospital insurance.

The proposed legislation was outlined in the speech from the throne, delivered by Lieutenant-Governor J. S. McDermid at the opening of the 24th legislature.

In all, 26 pieces of major legislation were mentioned, including substantially increased education assistance at both school and university level, a stepped-up agricultural program and a record highway program.

Other health and welfare measures will include more money for mothers' allowances, doubling of grants for hospital construction, and the voting of supplementary funds to pay for the 1957 increases in old age assistance, disability allowances and blind persons allowances.

Two Sentenced For Robbery With Violence

SUMMERLAND — Lawrence Everett A. Brawner, 26, was sentenced to 16 months in prison by Magistrate R. A. Johnston in police court Monday when he appeared on a charge of robbery with violence against Reginald Smith.

The charge, laid by the RCMP, resulted after an investigation of the offence which occurred on the evening of Dec. 24, 1957.

William Colburn McClure, 19, also pleaded guilty to the same charge against Smith. McClure was sentenced to two years less one day. It was disclosed that McClure had three convictions as a juvenile.

Evidence showed that Smith was observed by Brawner buying beer in the Summerland Canadian Legion and having a $20 bill. Brawner and two other young men, whose names were not disclosed, picked Smith up, and drove to the Lookout on Highway 97 above Crescent Beach. McClure, in the back seat, struck Smith over the head with a beer bottle, then Brawner pulled Smith from the car and he and McClure beat Smith and took his wallet which contained $19.19.

The attacked man was left in a dazed condition. Later he was admitted to Summerland Hospital suffering from abrasions and a wrenched shoulder.

Peter Van der Hoop appeared for the Crown, H. A. Callaghan appeared for Brawner and A. D. C. Washington for McClure.

RCMP are continuing investigation regarding the other two men involved.

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (AP) — Home owners on a street in a subdivision here have asked for correction of a typographical error.

They told the city commission Monday that the roadway past their homes was supposed to be called Viscount Street. But when maps were recorded and street signs went up it came out Discount Street.

Adopt New Skaha Water Plan

A compromise plan for financing extension of domestic water mains to the Skaha Lake area was adopted by Penticton city council last night on recommendation of a committee meeting during the weekend.

The plan, now requiring special approval of the B.C. cabinet, is to install mains to the Skaha area out of general revenue but levy a $2 per frontage foot connection charge against each lot along the new lines to which a domestic water service is installed. This special charge will be in addition to the regular $40 connection fee for each new domestic water service.

The scheme, to be proceeded with as soon as provincial government approval has been received, differs in two important respects from the local improvement plan which had been previously proposed and was overwhelmingly defeated by the property owners affected.

$2 PER FOOT LEVY

First, of those property owners who want water service will be charged the $2 per foot levy. The former proposal would have required all properties fronting on the new mains to pay a frontage tax whether water service was wanted or not.

Second, owners of large frontages will be able to pay the $2 per frontage foot connection charge on only a small portion of their total frontage. This is possible through subdivision of the large properties and applying for water service to only one of the small lots thus created. Such subdivision would not mean that orchards or other large acreages must immediately be cut up. All that would be required is a subdivision plan approved and registered. The total acreage could remain as an orchard or other large holding as far as use was concerned.

Under the local improvement plan the frontage tax would have been levied against all of the frontages along the new water mains whether subdivided or not.

Other differences between the two schemes are:

1. The $2 per foot connection charge must be paid immediately for that water service is applied for. The frontage tax on the local improvement basis would have been amortized over a 20-year period.
2. The special connection charge would have been $2 per frontage foot whereas the frontage tax would have been $2.10 per frontage foot plus interest.
3. Extent of the project to be financed by the new plan, is somewhat reduced from that which had been proposed under the local improvement scheme.

A 10-inch domestic water main is to be installed along Main Street from Okanagan Avenue to forks and along Skaha Lake Road (Highway 97) to Parkview Street and along Parkview Street to South Beach Drive. Cost is to be charged to domestic water utility operation.

Council learned last night that slightly more than 78 per cent of the 118 property owners affected protested against the local improvement plan, according to preliminary figures. The 78 protests represented land values totalling $120,000 of the $100,000 affected.

The new plan is proposed under a section of the Municipal Act which allows municipalities to apply for special legislation for circumstances of an unusual character.

Council last night gave first readings to the bylaw which will set the plan in motion on approval by the B.C. cabinet.

All council members voted in favor of the plan. Ald. H. M. Geddes, who was absent from the meeting, signified his concurrence in a note he left with the city clerk.

Plans Set for Education Study

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Billed as the broadest-based and most representative gathering ever to be held in Canada on any subject, the Canadian Conference on Education gets under way here Sunday, Feb. 16.

During the following four days it will take up all the Chateau Laurier hotel's convention space and spill over into five large downtown halls.

Its sponsors alone comprise 19 professional, commercial, labor and veterans' organizations embracing more than 2,000,000 members throughout Canada. The 700 delegates expected represent those bodies plus more than 70 others, also from coast to coast, with interests in education.

All of the country's major religious denominations are participating officially.

PENFIELD TO PRESIDE

Dr. Wilder Penfield, Montreal neurological surgeon and international authority on the brain and the mind, is the conference chairman.

Those chosen to guide its workshop study groups include a senator, a university president, an architect, a culture expert, a mental health specialist, a superintendent of high schools and the woman president of a provincial parent-teacher federation.

The conference is to study every aspect of education—pupil needs, teacher training and recruitment, building requirements, curriculum.

The Canadian Catholic Conference, official organ of Canada's Roman Catholic bishops and archbishops; the Canadian Council of Churches, representing all the major Protestant denominations, and the Canadian Jewish Congress, have been in on the planning since its inception and have named delegates.

Gagliardi's Plane Costs Criticized

VICTORIA (CP) — Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi's aircraft came in for criticism Monday by Opposition leader Robert Strachan.

Total operational cost of the aircraft is about $70,000.

"It's getting to be pretty expensive flying for planes that always seem to end up at Kamloops on Fridays," Mr. Strachan said. "I don't know where the minister is now..."

"He's probably gone to Kamloops," said Leo Nimsick, (CCF—Cranbrook).

Four Nations Can Enter Space Club

LONDON (AP) — Most European nations have the qualifications to enter the space club.

German rocket scientists say there are enough of them left in West Germany to produce a satellite in three years—if the Bonn government came across with the cash.

France is concentrating her scientific resources on developing aviation and atomic power, military and civilian. Rocket research has been limited to short-range military missiles.

In traditionally neutral but heavily defended Sweden, scientists have been carrying out research into military rockets since a German test V-2 landed on Swedish territory by mistake during the war.

Bjorn Berqvist, an engineer at the air force research centre, said: "Sweden can certainly solve the problems of placing an earth satellite in its orbit around the globe. In principle, there is nothing preventing even the construction of a Swedish unmanned moon rocket. However, money is lacking."

GOAL SUN NOT MOON

Britain has had high calibre rocket engineers since RAF fighter planes startled the Germans with tank-blasting rockets early in the war.

But at the moment, Britain's main goal is not a man-made moon but a man-made sun, from which it can draw thermonuclear power. For economy-minded Britain, earth satellites are a luxury, but peaceful atomic power is a necessity.

With rocketry getting second priority, British rocket men think it will be 1960 at least before an Intermediate-Range Ballistic Missile takes to the air at Britain's proving ground in the Australian desert.

Talks Open On Removal Of Firemen

MONTREAL (CP) — Top officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (CLC) opened discussions today on what action will be taken if Canada's two major railways decide to remove firemen from freight and yard diesel engines.

Representatives at the two-day conference included divisional chairmen of the union, whose members are employed by both the CNR and the CPR.

Two recent developments prompted the conference: The Kellogg royal commission's finding—in connection with a union dispute with the CPR—that firemen are not needed on the CPR freight and yard diesels; notice to the union by the CNR in the 1958-59 contract, for elimination of firemen on the same class of diesels.

The union has about 4,500 members employed by both carriers. The CNR contract with the union expires March 1.

Attending today's meeting were: S. C. Phillips, assistant to the international president, Cleveland; W. E. Gamble, Montreal, Canadian vice-president; J. G. McLean of Ottawa, national legislative representative; John Graham, Montreal, the union's CPR general chairman; P. M. Wana-maker, Winnipeg, general chairman, CNR western region.

Mr. Gamble indicated the closed sessions are likely to continue into Tuesday.

"There is no possibility of saying anything today," he said.

Col. 'Gat' Howard, Boer War Vet, Dies in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Funeral services will be held here today for Lt.-Col. Gerbrand V. W. Howard, whose prowess with the Gatling machine gun earned him the nickname of "Gat" in the Boer War.

The name of the tough Canadian, who made it a practice to sneak out on a Boer flank and rattle his machine gun with frightening effect, has come up frequently in books on the South African campaign. He was awarded the Queen's Medal with three clasps for his bravery.

Col. Howard, secretary of the Royal Canadian Mint in his later years, died Saturday at his home.

GEORGE J. FRASER

Funeral Tomorrow For Fruit Pioneer

Funeral services for well known Southern Okanagan pioneer George J. Fraser, 85, will be held in Osoyoos United Church at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Mr. Fraser, a resident of Osoyoos since 1917, died last Sunday in Kelowna. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. S. Pike.

In partnership with his brother Frank and other associates he started one of the valley's first fruit canneries at Kelowna in 1908.

He came to the Okanagan in 1896 after spending his early years in Ontario and Manitoba. Before going to Kelowna in 1899 he worked for the O'Keefe ranch near Vernon.

In 1910 he moved to Penticton to become manager of a canning plant and engage in the real estate business. He returned to Kelowna four years later as canner manager and associate of Leopold Hayes in the Occidental Packing Co.

At Osoyoos he was president of the growers co-operative for many years and a director of the provincial organization.

Surviving are his wife, Josephine; one son, Douglas, in Osoyoos; two daughters, Mrs. G. W. Driver, Osoyoos; and Mrs. C. F. Mall, in Florida; brother Frank in Vancouver and six grandchildren.

side of Penticton city hall was authorized by city council last night.

some of the increasingly crowded administrative offices taking over the present council room.

R. Meiklejohn, architect, is being asked to complete plans for the addition including alterations to the present building, and call for tenders on construction on or before Feb. 18.

Construction must be completed by April 30.

Total cost is not to exceed $15,000.

The addition is a stop-gap measure to provide adequate facilities until a new city council can be afforded.

Great Compliment Paid Bonspiel Organizers

No greater compliment could be paid the men and women organizing the 63rd Annual B.C. Bonspiel than that paid by veteran curler Reg Stone of Trail. His obvious sincerity when he said he would like to come back to Penticton "next year and every year" became the dominant theme on the final day of the bonspiel.

Duncan has already been selected as the site for the 1959 playdowns; but many curlers expressed open dissatisfaction at the choice before they left Penticton and echoed Mr. Stone's thoughts.

We have no desire to harm Duncan's cause, but we must say that we would welcome the curlers back next year — and every year — if they would like to come. We think Penticton the best city for such an event, too.

Of the 364 curlers competing here the majority were extremely happy at the arrangements made for their games, with the accommodation they found throughout the city, and with the city generally. A few complaints were received by the draw committee, but there hasn't been a bonspiel played since the invention of the game that didn't have its share of moaners.

Taken all round the people responsible for the smoothness of the week-long contest did a tremendous job for the Okanagan in general and Penticton in particular.

A Solution for the Skaha Area

On the surface city council appears to have found an adequate solution to the Skaha Lake water crisis. A solution permitting both sides to retreat from the arena with honor and in harmony.

The foot frontage cost remains a little lower than at first mentioned, and with this difference. The owner of the lot with a great deal of frontage may sub-divide his property so that his house is located on a normal-sized lot, thus enabling him to get domestic water at exactly the same cost as other town dwellers. The property owner not wishing to hook-up to the domestic main is not forced to do so and may continue using his well. Full details of the scheme can be read on another page in this edition.

The idea of sub-dividing may be alien to many it is true, but the act of sub-dividing to place a residence on a normal-sized lot does not mean that the orchardist must forsake his chosen way of life. It merely means that he pays foot frontage costs on one lot while the balance of his property remains in orchard. If and when that in turn is sub-divided, the foot frontage costs are borne by each individual lot.

Our only criticism of the scheme is that the council did not present it in the first place and so avoid the wrangling and delay of the past few weeks.

Doubtless many in the Skaha area will still feel imposed upon because they are not getting the entire cost carried by the city. We feel, however, that the idea will be accepted by the majority who, quite fairly, rejected the first foot frontage scheme as unequitable.

It now remains to be seen how sincere the Skaha people were when they said: "We don't want anything for nothing. If a sensible scheme is presented we are willing to compromise."

Possibly that willingness to compromise has been lost in the recent sharp exchanges between different spokesmen. We hope not. The solution looks fair to us, so let's get on with the job.

The Diesel Firemen Report

From the beginning it has been apparent that the dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen was of more than ordinary significance as a labor-management controversy. It was, and is, a test case. It involves the impact of technology on long-established practices. What happens in this dispute must have a bearing on the future course of railway policy not only in this country but in the United States. For the Canadian National Railways and a multitude of American roads have been breathless observers of the long-drawn-out hearings before a royal commission of three judges headed by Mr. Justice Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The decision in this celebrated case of the CPR's diesel firemen has now been made public. It is an uncompromising document. Somewhat to the surprise of some observers, who had thought that the union might have been able to salvage something out of the report, the commission rules definitely and unanimously in favor of the company on all questions. On the first and principal question, "Are firemen . . . required on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service of the Canadian Pacific Railway (including the Eastern, Prairie and Pacific regions and the Quebec Central and Dominion Atlantic Railways)?" the answer is a simple "No."

The commission also feels that the CPR's proposal for protecting firemen from the consequences of loss of employment and seniority is probably more generous than the commission would have made itself. And on the side issues of "arbitrariness" (payment for time before the start and after the end of a shift or trip) and "mountain differential" (extra pay for working trains over the mountains), the commission concludes that both these principles are outmoded. The recommendation in the latter case is for sharp reduction to a scale still somewhat higher than the standard rates, but far below what the union insists should be retained.

This is not a binding report upon the parties. The commission itself merely speaks of it as something on which "to renegotiate those parts of their collective agreements in the light of the commission's advisory report." When the three-man commission was set up a little more than a year ago, Mr. St. Laurent, as then Prime Minister, expressed the hope that the public could be guided by the investigation and that the collective opinion formed as a result would influence the contending parties. Which is a way of saying that Mr. St. Laurent hoped that, in the event of an adverse report, the union might be dissuaded from calling a second strike on the diesel firemen issue.

So what happens next largely depends on the state of public opinion.

Guard Against Cancer By Annual Check-up

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Every year, some 230,000 Americans die of cancer. It is estimated that at least 75,000 of these victims can be saved if only they will act in time.

Many, many cases of early cancer, as I have so often pointed out, can be cured if they are discovered and treated early.

ANNUAL CHECKUP

The best way I know to discover cancer early is for everyone to have a complete physical checkup at least once a year. An annual health audit is as sound if not more so, than an annual bank audit.

Any such examination should include special care to detect signs of cancer. Cancer can attack any part of the body, so a thorough examination of every possible site is essential for early detection.

IMPORTANT STEPS

Here, then, is a list of 22 important steps which should be included in any head-to-toe physical examination you have. I suggest you take it along. You can then see how your doctor checks you when you go for your next physical.

1. A careful comprehensive case history.
2. Examination of the skin.
3. Examination of the eyes.
4. Examination of the aural cavity.

An eastern university in the U.S. has vetoed a student plan for a rock 'n' roll show on the grounds that it isn't cultural. Where the youngsters made their mistake was in not billing it as a "Symposium on folk music in a changing society."

"We have $40,000,000 and I wish to God we didn't have it because when we only had $1.50 we never had any trouble." . . . Mr. John R. English, Secretary-Treasurer, International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

"The thinking at those Brains Trust lunches is very demoralizing for a non-practising thinker like myself. All the time Bronowski and Huxley and Bertrand Russell and Lady Violet Bonham Carter were thinking brilliantly about religion, biology, sex, politics, dynamics, literature, early Phonograph records and the rest, the only thing I could think about was how I wanted my steak done." . . . Alan Melville, on the BBC.

Recent events have drawn reminders that it is unlawful for unauthorized persons to enter school property, and the 12-year-old next door wants to know where he can register as an unauthorized person.

A Hollywood magnate was a very poor golfer, and ignorant as well. One day he was going round with a bishop and had a real off-day. After every mistake he would indulge in a hearty burst of profanity.

The bishop admonished him: "If you don't respect me, sir," he said, "you should at least respect the cloth."

"Cloth, nothing," snarled the other. "We're not playing billiards!"

A far-flung wire service has admitted that a reliable source it quoted proved to be unreliable. All that remains is for an unimaginable authority to be impeached.

OTTAWA REPORT

Members Hit for Non-Attendance

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
Special Correspondent to the Herald

OTTAWA — The black sheep of parliament, who are in parliament most often in name only, came in for the usual criticism in the session just ended.

Merwyn Johnson, the CCF member for Kindersley, Sask., introduced a bill to provide that MPs attending in the Commons each day should be listed, and their names printed in the official Hansard report of the proceedings of the House.

He poured shame on what he called "The T. to T. Boys," who show up in Ottawa on Tuesdays and leave again on Thursdays for a long weekend at home. During the 1957 session, he said, the average attendance at votes was as follows: on Mondays, 144 M.P.s; on Tuesdays, 149; on Wednesdays, 186; on Thursdays, 178; and on Fridays "the tragic figure of 102" out of 265 members.

Speaking on this bill, which was "talked out," Gordon Churchill, the Minister of Trade and Commerce, pointed out that many M.P.s do much of their best work outside parliament, especially among their constituents. He disagreed with the argument that M.P.s are paid $10,000 a year to attend each sitting of Parliament. That pay, he suggested, is more in the nature of an indemnity for the loss of business earnings which one might have enjoyed if he were not an M.P.

TEACHER'S ROLL CALL

Mr. Frank Christian, Secord M.P. from Okanagan-Boundary, protested that M.P.s should not be treated like school-children in having their attendance registered.

Dr. P. B. Ryndard, Conservative member for Simcoe East, urged M.P.s to take time to visit their constituents, and reminded them: "Let us never get away from the little fellow back home, who works and toils to make Canada what it is today, and who pays our salaries in this House of Commons."

The words of these three Members have great merit. But the bounds of permissible absenteeism were surely passed when the previous "tragic figures" were was very much increased.

LETTERS

B.C. TREE FRUITS

Sir:

May I congratulate you on your well-timed editorial, "Can B.C. Tree Fruits Head Serve in Dual Capacity?"

My answer is "No." We, as growers, have not as yet received the Royal Commission's report regarding our own business. Let's make sure our own house is in good order before trying to straighten out an educational problem, which will demand a great deal of Mr. Walrod's time.

As growers, our problems are far from solved. For example, I have been advised by my local packing house to curtail expenditures on new equipment, etc., in anticipation of apple payments to be received from last year's crop. The fruit industry is still in a very critical position and I feel that this is no time for a man who is supposed to be so valuable to our industry as Mr. Walrod, to be granted leave for such a mission.

Mr. Walrod is an employee of the growers and, if necessary, this issue should be decided by a growers' vote and not by a dozen men, known as B.C. Tree Fruit Governors.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for bringing this much discussed subject before the many growers.

Yours truly,
L. J. DENTON.

REDUCING THE SALES TAX

Sir:

With pending federal hospital insurance schemes coming closer to realization I suggest that the provincial government immediately reduce the provincial S.S. & M.A. Tax of 5 per cent to its original 3 per cent for social and municipal assistance on the provincial level, when the federal help gets into effect.

The extra 2 per cent sales tax was definitely put on exclusively as part of the hospital insurance costs and was shouldered by the people of this province and the business of this province solely for that purpose. It has left the economy of the province in a very difficult position competition wise and has been a severe drawback to tourists. We want more tourists to come, but keep them away because of the added 5 per cent sales tax. Three per cent is bad enough, 5 per cent simply too much for comfort. Many purchases are never made in B.C., because of this extra tax.

Would people in the proper places to deal with this please take notice of this request and take steps accordingly? Board of Trade, and through it the Provincial Board of Trade; M.L.A. Frank Richter, even the M.P., should approach the Premier.

"B.C. Citizen."

YOUNGSTERS IMPRESS

Brave Pitching Prospects Bright

NEW YORK (AP) — Glowing reports from Puerto Rico about the work of Juan Pizarro, Gerry Nelson and Humberto Robinson are calculated to inspire added respect for Milwaukee's pitching staff.

With Bob Rush already available to back up Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl, the development of an added starter from the winter league could make the Braves heavy favorites to repeat as National League champions.

Pizarro probably has the best chance of blossoming into a new phenom. At 19, he burned up the South Atlantic League with Jacksonville in 1956.

"The fastest I've seen since Bobby Feller," observed Riney Hemmery, veteran catcher who was managing in the league that year.

The majors proved too much of a jump from class A to Pizarro was sent back to the minors with Wichita in the American Association. Lack of experience was his major problem.

GOOD RECORD The 21-year-old lefty has rolled to a 14-5 record this winter. He struck out 186 and turned in nine shutouts, including a no-hitter and a one-hitter with the Cangas team that is representing Puerto Rico in the Caribbean series.

Milwaukee's pitching gained added luster Sunday when Nelson, 23-year-old right-hander who toiled on the Wichita farm last year, helped Puerto Rico beat Venezuela 6-1.

Barry Richards to Tend Goal If George Wood Unable to Play

Jack O'Reilly's Kelowna Packers, sitting comfortably atop a three-point cushion, will invade Pentiction tonight in quest of a win that will keep them three points out in front of the second-place Kamloops Chiefs.

Kamloops plays in Vernon tonight. A win tonight will not assure the Packers of the Becker trophy, emblematic of Okanagan Senior Hockey League supremacy.

However, should the Canadians defeat Kamloops and the Packers turn back the Veas, Kelowna will have a five-point margin with each of the two top clubs having only two games to play.

If, on the other hand, Kamloops wins tonight in Vernon and defeats the Veas here Friday and Kelowna drops one of its two games this week, the league championship could be decided Saturday night when Kelowna travels to Kamloops for the final league game.

So the Veas, with nothing to be decided except their playoff opponent in the first round, may have a big hand in deciding which of the two clubs eventually winds up in first place.

Veas will meet the first place club in first round of the playoffs with the second place team squaring off against the Vernon Canadians.

If George Wood, who suffered an eye injury Saturday night against Vernon, is unable to play, Barry Richards will pinch-hit for him. Richards is the regular goaltender for the Pentiction junior club and works out with the Veas regularly.

"He'll do a good job for us if Wood is unable to play," coach Bernie Bathgate said.

Bathgate will insert himself in a line with Don Slater and Bob Harper tonight with Clare Waskinski playing between Eddie Dischuk and Dave Wall.

The other forward line will be comprised of Walt Peacock, the league's leading goal scorer, Johnny Utendale and Doug Kilburn.

Jack Taggart, Hal Tarala, Rheo Touzin and Ken Conway will form the defence brigade.

Matt Busby Out of Danger

MUNICH, Germany (CP) — Manchester United soccer team which met disaster in a plane crash here last week, was taken off the danger list in hospital today, but two of his players and the co-pilot of the plane remained in critical condition.

Doctors announced that Busby had improved so much that "he can be treated as a normal patient." He is suffering from a punctured lung and other injuries.

Forward John Berry and half-back Duncan Edwards remained "in acute danger," however, along with co-pilot Kenneth Rayment. All three were still unconscious today.

Taken off the critical list along with Busby was Frank Taylor, a London sports writer, while improvement was noted in the condition of half-back Jackie Blancheflower, a former team member.

All of the others injured in the crash that took 21 lives, including seven stars of the famed United team, were reported progressing favorably.

MIDGET CAGE TOURNAMENT SET

A six team midget basketball tournament will be held in Pentiction Saturday with two teams from Osoyoos, two Pentiction clubs, Oliver and Summerland teams competing.

The tournament will get underway at 1 p.m. and continue through the afternoon and evening with Les Wiseman, coach of one of the local teams, in charge of the event.

Stiff competition is anticipated with Osoyoos being classed as having the teams to beat.

Proceeds from the tournament will be used for equipment for the Pentiction Basketball Association teams.

Three New Opponents for Ron Delany

NEW YORK (AP) — The news that Istvan Rozsaszoevgyi, Hungarian distance runner, will arrive Thursday prompted the New York Athletic Club Monday to announce a seven-man field in Saturday's Baxter mile.

Ron Delany, who has won 10 straight indoor races, will have three new opponents in the Madison Square Garden race in addition to Burr Grim and Jim Beatty, who trailed him in last week's Wanamaker Mile.

Jim Grelle of the University of Oregon, who was second to Delany last summer in the NCAA finals at Austin, Tex., in 4:07.1 will come in for his first race on the boards.

Zbigniew Orywal of Poland who has been competing in the half-mile and 1,000-yard events, will move up to the mile.

The other man in the Baxter field will be Peter Close of St. John's University.

LEW HOAD SETTLES DOWN

No Time for Temper In Pro Tennis Ranks

NEW YORK (AP) — The secret of Lew Hoad's professional tennis success, by his own reckoning, is control — of his game and his emotions. "I haven't had a flareup since I turned pro," said the 23-year-old Australian, a former Davis Cup star whose career as an amateur was marked by periodic tantrums and erratic play. "I don't let little things bother me any more. I don't worry about the umpire and linesmen."

I just go out there and play the best tennis I can." Hoad, who dropped 11 of his first 20 pro starts, resumes his 100-match series with Pancho Gonzales here Wednesday night. He leads Gonzales 9-6.

The Australian wryly admitted he no longer can play the loose game that was his amateur trade mark. "As an amateur, I took flirts and made a lot of wild shots," he said. "They don't hurt you much as an amateur, but as a pro such things kill you. One small mistake can cost you the match."

"So I have tightened up my game considerably. I go for fewer spectacular shots and take fewer chances. I have improved my concentration. That's one of the big factors—concentration."

Is Gonzales the best player he ever faced? "Yes, Pancho has the strongest, all-around, game I have played against."

Does he think he will win the series with Gonzales? "I won't say that, but I'll give him a go."

Is there any immediate hope of the United States winning the Davis Cup back from Australia? "I don't think so. Ashley Cooper, Malcolm Anderson, Neale Fraser and Mervyn Rose give us a team that is good and young enough to hang on for many years."

"The United States must start developing its young players the way Australia does if it is to produce a winning team."

Norris Tries Out Pay-As-You-See TV

NEW YORK (AP) — A hint of things to come can be seen in the new agreement between Jim Norris, president of Madison Square Garden, and the International Telemeter Corporation for experimental pay-as-you-see TV.

At the present, this is strictly an experiment. A group of men in a Chicago hotel room will watch a fight from the Midwest Gym in Chicago tonight. The telemeter or coin-in-the-slot system will be used.

Davis Squares Snooker Set

VANCOUVER (CP) — World snooker champion Fred Davis of Wales caught up with challenger George Chenier Monday night to set the stage for a thrilling finish tonight to their 61-game series here.

Playing devastating snooker, the champ won eight of the 12 games played Monday, to level the score at 24 games each. Davis, whose title is at stake, was down 18-11 Friday night and 20-16 Saturday.

Vancouver's Chenier, opening Monday night's play with a high break for the day of 77, took the first two games but Davis rallied to take the last four. He won four of the six afternoon games.

The Welshman who said Sunday that playing with the lighter North American snooker ball was "almost like striking a table tennis ball" compared with hitting the heavier English ball, appeared to be getting the feel of it Monday night.

Results of Monday's games, with Davis' scores first, were 60-66, 92-33, 60-34, 37-57, 70-6 75-43; 6-113, 33-90, 60-25, 93-3, 6253-75-45.

Six games will be played this afternoon and the remainder tonight.

BENSON REFUSES TO CHANGE STAND ON SUSPENSION ISSUE

Ed Benson, president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, has refused to change his stand on the Tom Stecyk-Bill Warwick incident.

After league president Bill Nicholson had levied two-game suspension on both players, Benson, acting on a protest by Vernon, lifted Stecyk's suspension.

Nicholson protested against what the league considered unwarranted interference in its affairs but Benson says his decision stands.

"It looks like they can cut anyone down as long as it's done behind the referee's back," Nicholson said. "I guess we'll have to leave it at that. There isn't time to take it up with the CAHA."

Pocket Rocket Gains on Moore

MONTREAL (CP) — Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard picked up a couple of points on teammate Dickie Moore last week in the National Hockey League scoring race but the pursuit from other quarters remained pretty much a stand-off.

The Montreal Canadiens stars are still running one-two. Moore, leading the pack for a month, scored one goal and now has amassed 66 points. The Little Rocket, with a goal and two assists, edged his total to 63 in the league's official standing released today.

Moore is the top scorer with 30 goals. Richard leads the assists department with 41.

The teams, as well as the scorers, didn't fare any too well. Chicago Black Hawks had the best record for the week—two wins and a loss for four of a possible six points—but are still in the cellar. The Hawks are two points behind Toronto Maple Leafs, who broke even in two games.

Canadiens won, lost and tied and are far in front with 76 points. Detroit had the same record and with 50 points are one behind the second-place New York Rangers who won and lost in two outings. Boston Bruins fared worst, losing two of three starts.

Canadiens now are in the happy position of needing only five wins in their remaining 17 games to clinch mathematically the NHL title.

Keeping pace with his mates, Jacques Plante continues to set the pace for the league's goalies with his goals-against average of 1.71.

DOCTOR SAVES LIVES OF MOTHER, CHILD

This 18-year-old Bedouin woman and her newborn daughter owe their lives to Capt. Glen F. Vancott, left, of Kingston, Canadian UNEF officer in the Middle East. Suffering from acute complications of pregnancy, the woman endured a long trek across the desert by donkey with her husband to the UNEF hospital at Rafah. Capt. Vancott then waged a dramatic six-hour struggle to save the woman's life. It was complicated by a power failure in the hospital but the delicate operation went on by flashlight. After a 30-month premature baby was delivered, Capt. Vancott administered artificial respiration to the child for 30 minutes, then placed the infant in a hastily improvised incubator.

MANY INVALIDS

60,000 to Celebrate Lourdes Centennial

LOURDES, France (AP)—More than 60,000 pilgrims knelt today in a mass recitation of the Ave Maria led by Pope Pius, broadcast from the Vatican to open the year-long Lourdes centennial. Loudspeakers carried the Pope's message to the kneeling crowds as radio networks spread it throughout the world.

This town and the Pyrenees countryside were jammed with pilgrims come to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the visions of St. Bernadette. The throng included 17 bishops and more than 6,000 foreign visitors.

The voice of the Roman Catholic Church's head echoed from 60 loudspeakers across the mountainous esplanade.

The hush which followed the Pope's prayer, Bishop Pierre-Marie Theas of Lourdes read a special apostolic benediction from the pontiff. The message urged the pilgrims, many of them invalids come to the shrine in hope of miraculous cure, to keep their hearts faithful to God "for the church, for its liberty where it is oppressed, for its extension to all people, for the peace of the world."

The Pope called on the pilgrims to "respond to the appeal of Mary with works of penitence and charity, by personal and collective reforms which we have recommended."

Earlier Pierre Cardinal Gerlier, primate of Gaul, celebrated a pontifical mass for the pilgrims who had approached the shrine in a two-mile-long procession. A soaking rain ended, a rainbow appeared and the sun began to shine as they entered the consecrated ground.

MIRACULOUS CURES
The Roman Catholic Church says that 100 years ago today the Virgin first appeared to 14-year-old Bernadette Soubirous, daughter of an unemployed miller. According to testimony prior to Bernadette's canonization, the Virgin during one of 17 subsequent visions child caused a spring to erupt in what is now the famed grotto of Lourdes. The spring's waters have been credited by the church with more than 1,000 miraculous cures. Millions have made the pilgrimage, seeking a cure or to perform an act of faith.

This year some 8,000,000 pilgrims are expected at the flag-bedecked town of 15,000 population. At the grotto a vast basilica seating 20,000 has been built underground to preserve the original appearance of the area. It will be consecrated March 25.

Pupils Rebel Over School Discipline

The school organ played the introduction to a hymn at an assembly of 700 students—but only the teachers sang.

From sullen rows of teen-agers came only the whispered chant: "SUMAB... SUMAB... SUMAB."

The singing of the teachers faltered and then stopped. Sumab had won.

SUMAB, the initials stand for Students Underground Movement Against Bull, was founded in the city of West Bromwich, a suburb of Birmingham. It was organized to battle for the students' right to hold lunch-time skiffle meetings in neighborhood cafes.

Bull is slang for too much discipline. Skiffle is a name given to a rhythmic way of singing ballads against a background of guitars, string base and washboard.

Educational authorities are worried because SUMAB may spread to other cities. SUMAB was founded when West Bromwich headmaster S. A. Wood ruled the lunch-time skiffle cafes out of bounds. He said there had been complaints of rowdiness.

Last Friday the school walls were plastered with posters demanding the freedom to eat. Hundreds of SUMAB leaflets were distributed.

Without warning 400 pupils put their names down for school luncheons. Embarrassed teachers had to refund their money. They had places for only 130 pupils. The students then streamed out of the gates to the skiffle cafes.

"I don't know how long the ban will stay," said headmaster Wood. "It was imposed after consultation with the school governors."

Police Open Fire as Boys Flee in Car

MONTREAL (CP)—Two youths aged 16 and 18 led police on a wild, 55-minute chase through streets of north-end Montreal early today in a stolen car.

Several shots were fired at the fleeing car before it was finally stopped by a roadblock in suburban Riviere des Prairies.

Until emergency measures were taken, the water gushed from the hidden rupture at the rate of 1,300,000 gallons every hour. Engineers managed to reduce the flow to 300,000 gallons hourly by closing off some check points.

This industrial city lies on the Hudson River across from New York City. Its 308,000 inhabitants normally use from 60,000,000 to 75,000,000 gallons of water a day.

Red Lights Bathe Sky In Spectacular Display

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Aurora Borealis—northern lights—lit up the heavens over North America Monday night with one of its most splendid performances.

The flickering multi-colored lights were seen as far south as New Mexico, east over Newfoundland and the Atlantic Coast, and over all of Western Canada.

Coupled with an unusually intense magnetic storm, the spectacular display disrupted radio, telegraph and teletype communications, and lasted in some regions for up to two hours.

Overcast skies cut off much of the view over the Prairies and Ontario, but communications between Toronto and Western Canada were out for more than an hour, starting at 7 a.m. MST.

LIKE GIANT FLAMES
In Manitoba the aurora looked almost like gigantic red flames. Excited residents of Tennessee, Georgia and the southwestern United States—where the aurora is extremely rare—besieged newspapers, police and observatories with telephone calls. Many observers in Washington state thought the glow was from a fire.

Dr. A. M. Crocker of the University of British Columbia physics staff said the unusual red display was caused by the aurora occurring high in the stratosphere.

"Normally it is green and occurs at heights of 100 miles," he said. "This one was at least 500 miles up."

Dr. Crocker said the aurora is caused by electrically-charged particles from the sun striking the earth's atmosphere.

UNCOMMON EFFECT
Since shortwave radio waves travel through the ionosphere, or upper part of the atmosphere, the aurora usually disturbs them, but the effect on land communications is less common.

Telegraph company officials said the aurora sets up electrical currents in the earth, and these in turn are carried along the ground and into communications circuits, overloading them. The result is a giant fuse-replacing operation.

Reports of trouble Monday night came from such widely separated centres as Whitehorse in the Yukon and the Maritimes.

Residents of Yorkton, Sask., reported that they received as many as four channels on their television screens where normally only one appeared.

EVERYBODY LISTENS TO HER

No disc jockey in the world has a higher rating in potential listeners than Vera Duncan, nurse at Hamilton sanatorium. She is operator, announcer and news reporter on station VOS, the voice of Santown, which broadcasts to patients in the hospital via earphones and loudspeakers. The station has been broadcasting since 1923.

'We Want Bennett' Shout Dairymen

VICTORIA (CP)—Vancouver Island dairymen won a meeting with Premier Bennett after about 300 of them stormed the legislature Monday.

The dairymen were protesting the British Columbia milk board's recent removal of a 60 cents per hundredweight price differential used to offset the influx of lower mainland milk.

They arrived in front of the Legislature about five minutes after the crowd went into session Monday, a cavalcade of about 30 cars and trucks.

MINISTERIAL COW
At the end of the police-escorted parade was a tractor towing a Holstein cow in a wagon.

The cow, introduced to the by-standers as "The Hon. Maude Bennett Minister of Agriculture," was led halfway up the main steps outside the building and there milked.

The farmers milled around outside the building for about 30 minutes, shouting for the cabinet to "come out here."

When they could get no satisfaction, all but a couple of them marched into the building and up the main rotunda—just outside the assembly chamber doors.

Maude, meanwhile, was led out onto the plush legislative lawns for lunch.

The crowd inside stood waving placards and shouting: "We want Bennett, we want Bennett."

They threatened at one point to "go in and get him if you don't bring him out."

Sergeant-at-Arms Denny Ashby, an RCMP officer of 30 years' experience, said the milling mob was "definitely out of control" at one point.

HEARD IN CHAMBER
The crowd's chanting, shouting and door-shaking several times drowned out Robert Strachan, leader of the CCF Opposition, who was opening the budget debate in the House.

The angry farmers were placated only when John Tisdalle (SC-Saanich) strode into their midst and shouted that Premier Bennett had promised to meet with the executive of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association today.

Observers at the buildings said the protest was the "closest thing" to a riot there they had ever seen.

Rescuers Find Plane Wreckage

ALERT BAY, B.C. (CP)—A six-man rescue party climbed 1,500 feet up the side of a mountain Monday to reach the wreckage of a light aircraft which crashed Sunday in fog with two men aboard.

They found one of the two huddled under a short-off wing of the aircraft, badly bruised and shaken up but otherwise in good condition. The other was dead in the wreckage.

The crash occurred about 10 miles from Alert Bay, which is on the northeast coast of Vancouver Island.

Dennis K. G. Mainwaring, 37, pilot and owner of the float-equipped Piper Super Cub. In hospital here is Lloyd Helsden, 29.

Both were employed as mechanics at the Canadian Forest Products' Englewood operation, near Alert Bay. They lived at Nimpkish Lake, about 18 miles from here. Originally they were from England.

Mainwaring and Helsden were returning from a 50-mile flight to Zeballos, on the west coast of the island, when they ran into bad weather Sunday.

Profit Sharing Plan Advocated

VANCOUVER (CP)—C. M. Anson, president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Monday proposed a system of industrial profit sharing as the solution to labor disputes.

He told the Vancouver branch of the institute that unions and management should get together to work out the system.

Mr. Anson, also vice-president and general manager of Dominion Iron and Steel Limited, Sydney, N.S., urged industrialists to follow Christ's rule: "Do unto others as you would they should do unto you."

"I believe that this principle should be adopted by both sides as a cardinal principle of labor relations."

In his profit-sharing formula, Mr. Anson said labor would be paid fixed rates according to contributions of the individual and all other production costs would be deducted from revenue.

Whatever surplus remained would be used for further division among the "partners of industry—the shareholder and the worker."

"Some such system, embodying a sound and logical method of providing for a continuation of a successful industry on a firm foundation, and free from all threats of disturbance must be devised.

"Under the present system of contract negotiation, the final settlement is usually obtained under duress... either management must settle for fear of a strike or the labor leader must settle because he is thinking of re-election or other pressure."

UNLOCATED BREAK IN WATER MAIN

U.S. City in State of Crisis

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—without water for a time early Monday. The pressure was restored later in the day, however, and public works director August W. Heckman said the danger from fire was greatly reduced.

PLANTS, SCHOOLS CLOSED
A total of 195 plants employing 23,500 workers have been closed in an effort to conserve water and keep the pressure up, while 20 schools in the area also have shut down, giving some 16,000 students an unexpected holiday.

The search thus far has been limited mainly to the downtown area, where some 100 persons one-third of the population—were in the Lafayette and downtown sections, an aide to Heckman, Col. Joseph Levy, said engineers were almost certain the break was not in the maze of pipes under the ground there.

Levy said city workers, who abandoned the bulk of their search efforts Monday night, would test a main under the Hackensack River near the Charlotte Avenue section today.

Two 36-inch mains from the Bannock Reservoir run under the river at that point, he said, and engineers believe they will find the break there.

CHECK POINTS CLOSED
Workers have been searching the vast labyrinth of this city's 34-year-old water system since a short time after the break was discovered late Sunday night.

Until emergency measures were taken, the water gushed from the hidden rupture at the rate of 1,300,000 gallons every hour. Engineers managed to reduce the flow to 300,000 gallons hourly by closing off some check points.

This industrial city lies on the Hudson River across from New York City. Its 308,000 inhabitants normally use from 60,000,000 to 75,000,000 gallons of water a day.

Three Killed In Explosion

LODGEPOLE, Alta. (CP) — Investigators sought today the cause of an explosion that killed three members of a family near this Pembina oil field town 75 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Killed were David Metro Penchuk, 30, his 22-year-old wife, Mary, and a three-year-old daughter, Linda.

Thrown to safety by the blast were Neal Penchuk, six months old, and Mrs. Penchuk's brother, Joel Lloyd McLean, about 19. The Penchuk infant and McLean were shaken up but not seriously injured.

RCMP from nearby Drayton Valley and inspectors from the provincial government's industries and labor department investigated the blast.

BLAME GAS LEAK
Preliminary inspections indicated the explosion was caused by a leak of natural gas. Police believe faulty equipment in or near the house caused the blast.

RCMP said the four-room Penchuk home was connected to a nearby natural gas gathering station, called a "battery."

Penchuk, a battery operator for Western Decalta Oils Limited, and his family lived in the house near the battery.

The blast occurred between 4 and 6 a.m. and no one is believed to have witnessed it. McLean, blown out of the house, came to in the yard and went to a neighbor's home. Several persons returned to the blast scene and pulled the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Penchuk from the wreckage.

It is believed the three persons who died were killed by falling debris. A fire did not break out after the explosion but the blast blew out the walls and the roof collapsed.

An inquest will be held Feb. 20.

Plaque Honors CPR Pioneer
VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia paid tribute Monday to the man who planned the entire course of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the province.

C. M. Anson of Sydney, N.S., president of the 18,000-member engineering institute of Canada unveiled a plaque at the CPR station here in honor of the planner, Henry J. Cambie.

Dedicating the plaque, Mr. Anson said the explorer-engineer "was one of that elite coterie of men who, in the early stages of our country's history, had the courage and vision to do things."

Harry B. Cambie, Mrs. N. F. Townsend and Mrs. C. S. McGaggin, all of Vancouver, were among the 50-odd persons who attended the ceremony.

Retired CPR engineer T. E. Price said Mr. Cambie was also instrumental in shifting the CPR terminus to Vancouver from Port Moody, 10 miles east.

MOON LANDING IN 1968

There's a time now set for landing on the moon and this drawing, which a few years ago seemed pure fantasy, may be an accurate vision of a scene on the moon in 1968. The new U.S. space program includes the landing of instruments on the moon by 1960, launching of a manned space vehicle in 1965 and moon landing in 1968. Scientists say all this can be done and many believe interplanetary travel is not many years off.

Airborne Assault Exercise Readied

By DON HANRIGHT
Canadian Press Staff Writer
EDMONTON (CP) — As the Canadian Army tells it, a couple of belligerents named Rokenrol and Huckelbuk intend to "tramp on the Canadians" in order to take a swing at the United States.

Supposedly, their Fantastic forces already have captured a radar station in east-central Alberta, and now are in the process of turning it into a guidance centre for an air attack Friday on the U.S. Again supposedly, the air attack will come from the north.

It's all a myth, of course—the mythical background for Bulldog IV, latest in a series of joint army-air force training exercises for Canada's mobile striking force.

Aldo Ray Clashes With Boss Cohn

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A maverick among movie stars is Aldo Ray. The guy simply refuses to behave like a star. He doesn't go to the fashionable parties, nor to the noted night spots. His favorite hangouts are a couple of off-the-beaten-path taverns.

He owns no fancy automobile. Matter of fact, he hasn't any. As for the luxurious home — he's currently living in a friend's apartment.

Obviously, Hollywood has not changed the free-living, outspoken constable from Crockett, Cal., in the seven years he has been here. That is a matter of irritation to some people here, notably his boss.

ABUSED EXPENSE ACCOUNT Aldo is employed by Harry Cohn, head of Columbia Pictures and the last tycoon of the movie business. He is the sole remaining studio boss who rules his realm with an absolute and imperious hand. Naturally, the presence of a rebel like Aldo spelled trouble.

It started after Aldo's first film, The Marrying Kind, with Judy Holiday. Aldo had gone all over the country to exploit the film and had over-taxed his expense account by sending home presents to his family and Jeff Donnell, whom he was courting. "I'll admit I overdid it," said

Aldo. "When I got back and went to get my salary cheque one week, there wasn't any. I was told they were taking the money out of my cheque for the presents. If they were going to be that way, that was all right with me."

24-CENT CHEQUE He was earning $200 a week at the time. He failed to get it the second week. There was an envelope for him the third week; when he looked at the cheque it read 24 cents.

Aldo thought it was a misprint, but he was told the figure was correct. He endorsed it "Aldo Ray, star of The Marrying Kind" and showed it around the lot. A producer paid a dollar for it, Aldo figuring he couldn't pass up a 300-per-cent profit.

But the cheque turned up on Cohn's desk. Aldo was called in and bawled out unmercifully for trying to show that the studio was cheap. Shortly afterward, he received another cheque — a bonus of $10,000.

Cohn and Ray have clashed numerous times. After a heated exchange in the latest encounter, Aldo was ordered off the lot. Nowadays he visits only the mail room to pick up personal letters. "But it will all be over in a couple of weeks," the actor smiled. "That's the end of my seven-year contract. And what a happy day that will be."

Opening lead—three of hearts. It is a well-known and accepted practice for declarer, when he is playing a notrump contract, to start by counting his winners. This principle is exactly the opposite of declarer's approach to MA. usually starts by counting his in.

It is not so well known, though, that the defenders can frequently follow in declarer's footsteps in this regard. From an examination of dummy's cards and his own, a defender can frequently determine his chances of defeating a contract by counting declarer's probable winners or losers.

East applied this principle in the current hand. Declarer played low from dummy on the heart lead and East won with the king. Instead of automatically returning the suit West had led, which would have proved fatal, East paused in an attempt to count declarer's likely number of winners.

It seemed very probable that South had three queen of hearts since he had skipped to three notrump with no club values and therefore was unlikely to have no strength in hearts either.

If declarer were also credited with five diamond tricks, then South would have nine tricks—since at least two spade winners has to be assumed for South's leap to three notrump.

Any hope of defeating the contract therefore had to rest on the assumption West had a diamond trick of some sort.

A heart return would accomplish nothing if West had the diamond trick and declarer had the queen of hearts. South would simply win a heart return, give West his diamond trick, and dash off with nine tricks.

Having given full thought to the various possibilities, East returned the five of clubs. Declarer won in dummy and cashed A-K of diamonds. When the suit failed to break, he had only eight tricks available.

In an effort to make the hand, he led a diamond. West took it and returned a club. East cashed four club tricks and declarer went down two as a result of the well-reasoned defense.

Tomorrow: One word costs West 1860 points.

HONORED GUEST IN JAPAN

Red-carpet treatment was accorded President Ahmed Sukarno, left, of Indonesia, during his visit to Japan. He held long discussions with Emperor Hirohito and Crown Prince Akihito, right, as well as members of the Japanese cabinet. Though he is regarded by many as the unofficial link between African and Asian leaders, there is a movement in Indonesia to displace him in favor of a cabinet of anti-Communist members.

ALONG 400 MILES OF RAIL TRACK

Terrorists Using Mines, Not Bombs

VICTORIA (CP)—Terrorists in the Kootenays are using contact mines aimed at blowing up trains and not just sections of track, Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the B.C. legislature Monday.

Mr. Bonner answered CCF criticism of Canadian Pacific Railway's curtailing service on its Kettle Valley line because of recent bombings.

CCF spokesmen said the government should see to it that rail service between Penticton and Nelson is fully restored, even if guards have to be posted.

Mr. Bonner said the change to mines from bombs made the problem more serious.

He said the danger is no longer confined to the area around the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, but extends along 400 miles of track.

"In the circumstances I am not prepared to tell the CPR that guards could protect their men," he said.

"My recommendation was that crews not be asked to take trains through at night."

He said intensive investigation of the bombings is continuing. Lois Hagen (CCF—Grand Forks-Greenwood) said the Nelson local of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen had advised her that "normal service could be resumed with adequate protection."

Mrs. Hagen said "if it's safe two days a week it's safe the rest of the week."

Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) said the curtailment was a continuation of a "steady erosion of services" by the CPR.

A motion by Mr. Harding that the budget debate be adjourned to allow discussion of the problem as a "matter of urgent public business" was defeated 36 to

Human Eye Bank Set Up at Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—An eye bank, aimed at establishing a stockpile of human eyes for restoration of the sight of scores of B. C. blind and semi-blind, has been set up in Vancouver General Hospital.

The people for whom the bank has spurred most hope are those with defects of the cornea, the transparent tissue or "window" at the front of the eye.

If the cornea becomes damaged, clouded or misshapen, centrally or otherwise, visual trouble, even blindness, occurs. It can be replaced by a healthy cornea from a dead person or a live person whose eye, other than the cornea, has been damaged and is beyond repair.

The speed of the transplant—the operation must be done within 24 to 36 hours after removal—means that the bank will be less of a depository than a clearing house.

Captain M. C. Robinson, western director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, said Monday the idea is to build up a list of donors who bequeath their eyes on death.

The Canadian Legion will soon start a campaign for donors. Many of its members have already filled out cards bequeathing their eyes.

Nova Scotia Legislature Opening Set

HALIFAX (CP)—The Nova Scotia legislature opens here Wednesday. Politics, the national hospital insurance plan and the possibility of a sales tax are expected to dominate opening weeks of the session.

Lieutenant-Governor E. C. Plow, retired chief of the army's eastern command, will launch the second session of the 2nd General Assembly by reading the speech from the throne. It is his first major function since succeeding Alistair Fraser Jan. 15.

There are no vacancies in the 43-member assembly. Premier Robert L. Stanfield leads the 24 Liberal members. There are 18 Liberals in the official Opposition headed by Henry Hicks, whose government won 58 seats at the polls in 1956. Provincial party leader Michael McDonald is the only CCF member.

ELECTION RECESS

The House is expected to sit a month, adjourning about March 14. Mr. Hicks and Mr. Stanfield have indicated they favor the recess to give members a chance to take part in the campaign leading to the March 31 federal election.

Many observers feel the government may be planning a sales tax to raise the $6,000,000 needed to finance the first year of the province's share in the national hospital insurance program. Nova Scotia plans to enter the scheme Jan. 1, 1959.

Mr. Stanfield has said the province is considering two ways of getting the necessary money: new taxation or a premium collected from the head of every household. The federal government's contribution to Nova Scotia's program would be about $7,000,000 the first year.

BACALL SEEKS MATE

BOSTON (AP)—Movie actress Lauren Bacall, whose husband, Humphrey Bogart, died more than a year ago, said Monday she wants to get married again. "I'm a woman," she said, "and I don't believe a woman should live alone." Miss Bacall seemed peeved at a newspaper headline saying she would not say whether Frank Sinatra is her choice.
